

FXall makes Senior Global Appointments

Key Hires to Drive Strategic Development and Global Growth across the FXall Business

25 May 2010 - FXall, the world's leading foreign exchange platform, today announced the appointment of Steven Zieselman as Senior Director, Strategic Initiatives and David Lu as Director, Head of Sales for Japan. Zieselman's responsibilities include leadership for FXall's post-trade services and business development relating to the changing regulation of OTC derivatives, whilst Lu will take responsibility for further growing FXall's footprint in Japan.

Zieselman joins from State Street, where he was Managing Director of Business Development for Global Link, State Street's electronic trading platform. In this role, Zieselman was instrumental in the development of State Street's post-trade offering and led its participation in CLS. Zieselman has significant knowledge of the FX landscape, money markets operations, settlement and custody. His role at FXall will contribute to the ongoing development of FXall's post-trade services and Settlement Center platform, as well as to provide strategic direction for the business positioning as a whole.

Lu has nearly 20 years experience in the Japanese FX Markets, having worked across various sales, trading and e-commerce roles at major banks in Tokyo. In the last ten years he led the sales and marketing of State Street's Global Link, worked within FX Sales at Morgan Stanley and was most recently responsible for customer order execution and EFX customer coverage for asset managers, banks, financial institutions and broker dealers at Deutsche Bank.

Phil Weisberg, CEO at FXall, commented: "We are committed to providing a superior offering to clients and are confident that both of these additions to our team bring a wealth of expertise and deep contacts across the FX market. The appointment of Steve further strengthens our ability to innovate and grow in response to a changing trading landscape and regulatory environment, and David brings over 20 years experience in Japanese markets. We are confident both appointments will contribute to the successful growth of our business, delivering customer-focused solutions supported by market-leading technology and access to the deepest liquidity."
